
Confidentiality & Non-Disclosure Agreement

Required acknowledgment for roles with access to client or company confidential data.

1. Confidential Information

"Confidential Information" includes client data, employee records, source code, pricing, business plans, and any information marked or reasonably understood to be confidential, disclosed to you in the course of your engagement with ITBD.

2. Obligations

You agree to use Confidential Information solely for performing your role, to protect it with reasonable care, and not to disclose it to any third party without written authorization. These obligations survive the end of your engagement with ITBD, regardless of reason for separation.

3. Exclusions

Information that is or becomes publicly available through no fault of yours, or that you are required to disclose by law (with prior notice to ITBD where legally permitted), is excluded from these obligations.

By signing below, I agree to the terms of this Confidentiality & Non-Disclosure Agreement.
